

Stoplight Management Bulletin Board

 1	 2	 3	 4	 5	 6
 7	 8	 9	 10	 11	 12
 13	 14	 15	 16	 17	 18
 19	 20	 21	 22	 23	 24

How It Works ~ Post a stoplight pattern like the one shown above on the board and staple enough library card pockets next to it so that each student will have one. Number the pockets and assign each student a number. Place one green stoplight tag in each pocket. Cut out a dozen tags in yellow, orange, and red, and place them in pockets near the base of the stoplight. Students start each day with a green tag. When a student engages in an off-task behavior, place a yellow tag in his or her pocket as a caution. If another incident occurs that day, place an orange tag in the pocket and follow up with a previously determined consequence. For serious infractions, place the red tag in the pocket. At the end of the day, record the colors shown in each pocket on a class chart. Remove the yellow, orange, and red tags so that everyone will have a fresh start the following day. You can find the complete directions and the patterns to create this board in Laura Candler's Go for Green Stoplight Management Mini Pack. Download it from <http://www.lauracandler.com/books/minipacks.php> and you can also find it in Laura's TeachersPayTeachers.com store.

