

Chinese New Year Literacy Activities

Laura Candler
©2013 Teaching Resources
www.lauracandler.com

Chinese New Year Literacy Activities

In this packet you'll find two literacy activities to use when studying or celebrating the Chinese New Year. Both were designed for cooperative learning teams, but they would work equally well with partners or in a small guided reading group. For more free seasonal activities, visit the Seasonal page on Teaching Resources at www.lauracandler.com. Also, please follow me on TeachersPayTeachers to be notified when I add new freebies and other resources. I hope you enjoy these materials!

~ Laura Candler

1. Comparing New Years Venn Diagram

This activity contains fact cards with information about the Chinese New Year and the American New Year. Students take turns sorting them onto the Venn Diagram. You can have your students do this after reading aloud a non-fiction book like Chinese New Year for Kids or after having students research facts about the Chinese New Year. Or you can use it as a "hook" prior to reading the book and conducting research. Students take turns placing the cards onto the Venn diagram and then read or research to verify the correct placement of the cards.

2. Sam and the Lucky Money Discussion Cards

Use these discussion cards after reading Sam and the Lucky Money to your students. This is a touching story with a wonderful message about what it means to be lucky. These cards work great with the Talking Sticks Discussions strategy that can be found in my TeachersPayTeachers store at the link below:

<http://www.teacherspayteachers.com/Product/Talking-Sticks-Discussions>

Comparing New Years

American and Chinese New Year Facts

People celebrate with cheering and loud noise.	The calendar year is based on solar (sun) cycle.
The calendar year is based on the lunar (moon) cycle.	The first day of the new year is always January 1st.
The first day of the new year is different each year.	The years are named after 12 different animals.
People make new year resolutions or promises.	Everyone in the country turns a year older on the same day.
Parents give children red envelopes with “good luck” money.	Black-eyed peas are served on New Year’s Day for good luck.
The new year is started by cleaning house to sweep out bad luck.	People celebrate with parades and fireworks.
People spend time with family and friends.	People sing “Auld Lang Syne” at midnight.
Baby symbolizes new year and new beginnings.	At midnight families pray to ancestors for a good year and then enjoy a fancy dinner.

Comparing New Years Answer Key

Color Coding: American Both Chinese

People celebrate with cheering and loud noise.	The calendar year is based on solar (sun) cycle.
The calendar year is based on the lunar (moon) cycle.	The first day of the new year is always January 1st.
The first day of the new year is different each year.	The years are named after 12 different animals.
People make new year resolutions or promises.	Everyone in the country turns a year older on the same day.
Parents give children red envelopes with “good luck” money.	Black-eyed peas are served on New Year’s Day for good luck.
The new year is started by cleaning house to sweep out bad luck.	People celebrate with parades and fireworks.
People spend time with family and friends.	People sing “Auld Lang Syne” at midnight.
Baby symbolizes new year and new beginnings.	At midnight families pray to ancestors for a good year and then enjoy a fancy dinner.

Comparing New Years

Sam and the Lucky Money

Team Discussion Cards*

What is lucky money?

Why was Sam startled when he bumped into the old man?

Why don't you think Sam was hungry after he entered the bakery?

How did Sam feel at the toy store? (How did his feelings change while he was there?)

What are some of the traditions surrounding the Chinese New Year?

What made Sam feel lucky in this story?

What do you think is the theme or author's message of this story?

What character traits describe Sam? Give at least one supporting detail for each trait.

More Teaching Resources from Laura Candler! Click each item below to find it in my TpT store.

Copyright and Permission Info

I hope you enjoy this freebie! Because it's free, you may share it with others as long as you keep the packet intact and don't sell it or include it in a product of your own. The copyright information must appear on each page. If you include a reference to this freebie, please include a link to it on my website or in my TpT store. Thanks! ~ Laura Candler

Click here to sign up for Candler's Classroom Connections. It's a free newsletter with teaching tips, freebies, and special offers not available anywhere else! Subscribers also gain access to Laura's Best Freebies, a private page on Teaching Resources with over 50 freebies all in one place!

Connect with me! Click the icons below to find me on Facebook, Instagram, and Pinterest. Then check out my blog, Corkboard Connections, where I share teaching strategies and tips for educators. Last but not least, visit my TeachersPayTeachers store and follow me if you enjoy my resources!

